ST. LUKE'S HOME--IT'S WORK DURING THE YEAR JUST PAST

Bishop Julius W. Atwood, Dean William Scarlett, Dwight B. Heard, L. H. Chalmers, Dr. Ansel Martin and Dr. Charles A. Van der Veer are trustees of St. Luke's Home as a result of the election of last Friday night. Dr. Martin and Judge Chalmers take the places of Judge Edward Kent and Dr. John W. Foss, who died during the past year.

The interesting reports of the president, superintendent and medical director are as follows:

Report of the Trustees of St. Luke's Home

The outstanding event in the history of the Home for the year 1916, has been the erection of the Entertainment House, the gift of Mrs. J. H. Brown of New York, as a thank offering for deliverance from sudden death.

Hitherto the dining room has been used for the purpose of eating, and for place of entertainment, and at times for religious services. We now have a simple, attractive building to serve all of these purposes.

It is gratifying to record that our endowment funds have been materially increased by the bequest of $5000 from the Estate of the late C. S. Moore, Esq. of Oregon, and by the setting aside from the general funds of $5000, making the total endowments now amount to $20,500. The income from these endowments, well invested, amounting to over $2000 has been of the utmost help in making it possible for us to care for an unusually large number of patients unable to pay the cost of maintenance. This problem, always hard one, has been difficult to solve during the past year. Each year those seeking health in Arizona, seem to be persons of more limited means than the ones of years ago, and the need becomes more imperative of increasing our endowment, especially as the cost of living increases.

We have had much to be proud of, and the installation of a new heating plant, which is expected will greatly reduce the amount paid for fuel. This work has been done at a cost of a little less than $1000. We should be glad to have this sum contributed, if possible, by some generous friend of the home.

Other needs are furniture for the entertainment house, including a pool table, which would cost $400 or $500; a new automobile, which might be bought for $500; an X-ray machine, the necessity of which is shown in the report of the medical director, which can be procured by an outlay of $2500. While the report of the medical director will show the necessity of our patients, more progress is made in the dry summer months than in the winter, yet the fact remains that some patients have done better by remaining at the home during the winter months, than they could have done elsewhere. The city of Tucson has probably quite as large a number of consumptives as any other city in the United States, and a year ago the president of your board found a poor fellow entirely destitute, cared for in a small boarding house, from which he was about to be ejected. It was the most difficult, after a long search, that provision could be made for him. Only the other day a poor consumptive was found dead in one of the ditches near that city.

It would serve a great and pressing need if we could establish, not a sanatorium, but a small tent colony with a simple administration building and kitchen attached, where food could be obtained and which could be watched over by physicians of Tucson who could give the most expert care. Here, we could take care, with a small expense comparatively speaking, of sick people, whom it is impossible at the present time to care for in an institution like St. Luke's.

Your president already has at his disposal a small sum which might be used for this purpose. If the proposed expansion of the home among the regular people who come to Southern Arizona was started, more money would undoubtedly come in for its support, not only from Southern Arizona, but from all parts of the country. The beneficent work of ministering to the forgotten and neglected of God's unfortunate children would be greatly enhanced and we could give more comfort and security to increased offerings from friends of our work.

We regret that there is not time to present in detail in this report, the concrete examples of the past work of the year. Here is a clergyman from an eastern state, apparently with few or no friends to aid him, who is brought to St. Luke's to nurse the winter, confined entirely to his bed, but without any expense to himself. Here is a mother and wife, who in a critical stage of the disease, comes to the hospital of St. Luke's, and after many months is restored to her family in improved health. Here is a young man, who after two or three relapses comes to us, and in his hospital is fully restored, so he is able to take up an important position in the government service in Arizona. The life of a valuable citizen is thus saved.

The cheer and comfort of the consolation that has been brought to the sick and dying, and the hope and uplift of character, that have come during the nine years of its existence, to many who have now taken their places among the workers of our country, and who have found courage and health in our institution, which is both a hospital and a home, there is no time to speak.

The average cost of maintaining patients per week for the year has been $15.24, in comparison with $14.55 last year.

The average paid by each patient per week has been $9.12 compared with $11.14 paid last year, which explains the unusually large deficit of this year of more than $2000.

The number of patients treated has been 88.

The average number of patients during the year, including the summer months, has been 25 to 26, a little larger average than last year.

About one-fourth of the number now in the home are from patients.

In conclusion, the Board of Trustees must record the severe losses that it has sustained in the death of two valuable members during the past year. Dr. John W. Foss and the Hon. Edward Kent, from the beginning, have served the interests of St. Luke's Home with rare fidelity, keen interest and earnest devotion. To the medical and legal skill freely placed at our disposal by these two men and to their services.

thetic and tactful co-operation, your Board owes a debt of profound gratitude.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. ATWOOD,
President and Treasurer.

Superintendent's Report

Last year we reluctantly reported that we were compelled to curtail our work, owing to our finances. This year we are pleased to report that this condition is changed. Not only have we been able to care for a greater number of patients (eighty-two as compared with sixty-six in 1915), but a much larger number have been cured for at rates ranging from $2.50 to $12.00 per week. Thirteen patients were cured for free. Forty-two were cured at the regular rate. It is to be noted, however, that the cost of maintenance has increased, and is greater than ever before, being $15.24 per week. The average amount paid has been $9.12, which is $2.22 less than the average last year. The total number of hospital days was 2293, which is 550 more than last year. They were divided as follows:

Days at full rate 2292
Part free days 3162
Free days 1064.70

As compared with last year, there have been 478 more free days, 1195 more part free days, and 1123 less days at the full rate. The actual cost for maintenance was $6647.90. This is much greater than for any previous year. In addition, $1245.75 was spent for permanent equipment. The most important item in this equipment was the installation of apparatus for burning kerosene oil. This has already proven its efficiency, as we are now able to heat the infirmary, properly. Oil burning apparatus was also installed in the kitchen, and for heating our laundry. Every instance it has been satisfactory. There is every reason to believe that it will make a marked economy in our fuel costs.

The Recreation building has been completed, and has been a source of great pleasure. We now have our own moving picture machine. Through the courtesy of the Mutual Film company, we are able to give picture shows, which are greatly enjoyed by the patients. Some of our friends in Phoenix who sing have been most gracious in coming out and singing for the patients.

Each year friends in Phoenix and elsewhere have given money and gifts to make a happy Christmas for the patients, and I want to take this opportunity to thank them.

Needs: While the installation of the apparatus for burning fuel oil has helped the problem of heating, there is still the need of a central heating plant. This would make it possible to heat all of the bungalows and other buildings, giving a maximum of comfort for a minimum cost, both in fuel and labor. Such a plant would cost about $4000.

We are still asking for a laundry and trust that some friend will give us the money for this purpose. It would cost about $2000.

There has been marked progress in the past year and we have every reason to look forward to our tenth year of work with hope and courage.

Respectfully submitted,
R. R. COCKS,
Superintendent.

Report of Medical Director

In making my report on the work of the medical department of St. Luke's home for the year 1916 I have followed precedent by eliminating technical phraseology and have endeavored to show the results of treatment in such a way that those interested in the work at St. Luke's home may readily understand.

There were a greater number of hospital days in the past year than in either of the two preceding years. There were 72 patients treated at St. Luke's home, which was the number treated in 1914, and 16 more than were treated in 1915. They have been classified as follows:

Consumptive 9
Disease arrested 9
Condition improved 9
Moderately advanced 26
Condition improved 26
Condition unimproved 9
Advanced 36
Condition improved 25
Condition unimproved 11
Died at St. Luke's home 5
Of the 26 moderately advanced cases 17 remained less than three months.
Of the 26 advanced cases 10 remained less than three months.

Of the six patients who died at St. Luke's home, 2 were at the sanatorium, the other 4 were patients who had shown some improvement of a temporary nature but who subsequently had relapsed and became worse, but who were cured for and made comfortable till the last.

The advanced cases have shown a greater percentage of improvement than in previous years. We have admitted in the past year patients whose prospects for health have been brighter and as a result the general tone of our patients has been better.

The above results show conclusively the importance and truth of the statement that patients classified as moderately advanced, or far advanced, do not necessarily have a hopeless future. A great many cases may be returned to a useful life in the community, and we must not overlook the value of the sanatorium education in making them suffer from the standpoint.

1916 was a sneaky old year in the clothing world, yet at no time were we afraid to stand back of our merchandise.

That's the joy of maintaining good standards.

And you may be assured always, that no matter the stress of market conditions, you will find here the best, and the best only, in men's wear.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE

OCCUPANTS NOT HURT

The breaking of a steering knuckle caused the car which H. E. Mathews, principal of the Adams school was driving yesterday afternoon, to plunge over the embankment just west of the Tempe bridge, completely demolishing the auto, and pinning the occupants underneath.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mathews, the parents of the driver, were painfully, though not seriously injured.

There were four people and a baby in the car at the time of its plunge. Mr. Mathews stated last night that it appeared as a miracle to him, that he and his family had ever escaped alive.

Help was sent at hand, and the badly smashed machine was lifted from the bottom of those undergrowth. All were able to gain their feet, and walk to the Tempe road, where another car brought them to the city. Although the machine was not totally ruined, it will be several days before it will be brought back to the road.
